Arguably, no one has been more active in promoting and funding research on vaccines aimed at dealing with coronaviruses than Bill Gates and the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation. From sponsoring a simulation of a coronavirus global pandemic, just weeks before the Wuhan outbreak was announced, to funding numerous corporate efforts to come up with a novel vaccine for the apparently novel virus, the Gates presence is there. What does it actually entail?

We must admit that at the very least Bill Gates prophetic. He has claimed for years that a global killer pandemic will come and that we are not prepared for it. On March 18, 2015 Gates gave a TED talk on epidemics in Vancouver. That day he wrote on his blog, “I just gave a brief talk on a subject that I’ve been learning a lot about lately—epidemics. The Ebola outbreak in West Africa is a tragedy—as I write this, more than 10,000 people have died.” Gates then added, “As awful as this epidemic has been, the next one could be much worse. The world is simply not prepared to deal with a disease—an especially virulent flu, for example—that infects large numbers of people very quickly. Of all the things that could kill 10 million people or more, by far the most likely is an epidemic.”

That same year, 2015, Bill Gates wrote an article for the New England Journal of Medicine, “The Next Epidemic: Lessons from Ebola.” There he spoke of a special class of drugs that “involves giving patients a set of particular RNA-based constructs that enables them to produce specific proteins (including antibodies). Although this is a very new area, it is promising because it is possible that a safe therapy could be designed and put into large-scale manufacture fairly rapidly. More basic research as well as the progress of companies like Moderna and CureVac could eventually make this approach a key tool for stopping epidemics.” and CureVac both today receive funds from the Gates Foundation and are leading the race to develop an approved COVID-19 vaccine based on mRNA.

2017 and Founding of CEPI

A global flu-like pandemic in fact is something that Gates and his well-endowed foundation have spent years preparing for. In 2017 during the Davos World Economic Forum, Gates initiated something called CEPI, the Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness Innovations, together with the governments of Norway, India, Japan, and Germany, along with the Wellcome Trust of the UK. Its stated purpose is to “accelerate the development of vaccines we’ll need to contain outbreaks” of future epidemics noted at the time that “One promising area of vaccine development research is using advances in genomics to map the DNA and RNA of pathogens and make vaccines.” We will return to that.

Event 201

By 2019 Bill Gates and the foundation were going full-tilt boogie with their pandemic scenarios. He made a Netflix video which made an eerie imaginary scenario. The video, part of the “Explained” series, imagined a wet market in China where live and dead animals are stacked and a highly deadly virus erupts that spreads globally. Gates appears as an expert in the video to warn, “If you think of anything that could come along that would kill millions of people, a pandemic is our greatest risk.” He said if nothing was done to better prepare for pandemics, the time would come when the world would look back and wish it had invested more into potential vaccines. That was weeks before the world heard about bats and a live wet market in Wuhan, China.

In October, 2019 the Gates Foundation teamed up with the World Economic Forum and the Johns Hopkins Center for Health Security to enact what they called a “Fictional” scenario simulation involving some of the world’s leading figures in public health. It was titled Event 201.

As their website describes it, Event 201 simulated an “outbreak of a novel zoonotic coronavirus transmitted from bats to pigs to people that eventually becomes efficiently transmissible from person to person, leading to a severe pandemic. The pathogen and the disease it causes are modeled largely on SARS, but it is more transmissible in the community setting by people with mild symptoms.”

In the Event 201 scenario the disease originates at a pig farm in Brazil, spreading through low-income regions and ultimately explodes into an epidemic. The disease is carried by air travel to Portugal, the USA and China and beyond to the point no country can control it. The scenario posits no possible vaccine being available in the first year. “Since the whole human population is susceptible, during the initial months of the pandemic, the cumulative number of cases increases exponentially, doubling every week.”

The scenario then ends after 18 months when the fictional coronavirus has caused 65 million deaths. “The pandemic is beginning to slow due to the decreasing number of susceptible people. The pandemic will continue at some rate until there is an effective vaccine or until 80-90% of the global population has been exposed.”

(Continued on Page 6)
As Ireland faced what must have been the strangest St. Patrick’s Day in history, the continuing roll out of drastic Draconian and tyrannical methods should be a warning to all that this is just another scare story to use the same old trick that little freedom we have left. This year St. Patrick’s Day was used to introduce detention legislation for anyone suspected of having Covid-19 and who doesn’t wish to be detained. The day after Denmark decided that Covid-19 vaccinations were going to be for everyone, the authorities seem all too concerned as to what happens when this horror story finally gets tired and the media are told to drop it for something else.

Make no mistake, this is not about a pandemic, it is about changing the way we live our lives forever. Just as 9/11 was used to curtail our freedoms and rights, this will be likewise and I believe far more brutal and sinister. The above in a clear violation of your right to walk down the street, for example, just as in Nazi Germany in the 1940s. In this kind of world we want the next generation of human beings to habit or do we want our children to have the freedom to live their lives the way they see fit with minimal laws to control their actions? The simple phrase, ‘Do no harm’ covers everything.

What else has been going on in the rest of the world as this story has been continuously pounded into the minds of the public? You can be sure there are many nefarious acts being perpetrated under this illusion of a global catastrophe. Furthermore, it makes absolutely no sense whatsoever.

The supposed tests for Covid-19 are less than reliable, and as yet there isn’t even a test which is authorized, with well over half resulting in false positives, and again, with around 95-98% of all supposed positives, whether real or false, fully recovering. The definition of a pandemic is obscure and erroneous to say the least as there are many other viruses, such as the common cold or flu, which result in far more infections, people and astronomically more deaths and yet they are never called pandemics.

How many cases of autism are there?

In 2018 the CDC determined that approximately 1 in 59 children is diagnosed with an autism spectrum disorder (ASD).

- 1 in 37 boys
- 1 in 151 girls

If that’s not a pandemic, what is? And why has the link to vaccines never been investigated despite much evidence to suggest that they at least should be? What about flu?

In America alone, anywhere from 15 to 60 Million people a year get the flu annually.

So far, the CDC has estimated (based on weekly influenza surveillance data) that between 24,000 and 62,000 people have died from influenza between Oct. 1st, 2019 through April 4th, 2020, with the total number of infections ranging from 39,000,000 – 56,000,000. THIS IS ONLY IN THE USA!

Covid-19 is a fraction of these numbers globally and yet we’re led like lambs to the slaughter to believe that we’re dealing with some kind of new plague, albeit manmade.

This is bovine folly to say the least.

For anyone interested in learning how this whole scenario is being rolled out I suggest you watch the 2011 movie Contagion. It is astounding how accurately the whole thing is rolled out when a pandemic breaks out. It is a script of what’s happening today and it’s no coincidence.

I have even heard people mention aspects of what’s happening now which are in the movie but which haven’t even happened yet and they are under the delusion that it has, such as the closing of state borders in the US for example.

People are so well programmed by the media, including movies and TV series, that they seem no longer capable of thinking anything through which is clearly dubious in its telling. They have no grasp on reality and live in a world of predetermined fiction. Their perception of reality is deeply flawed.

They cannot even seem to grasp simple arithmetic when it comes to looking at the number of deaths from all causes compared to what’s happening now and being blamed on Covid-19. The simple fact is that there are no more deaths in previous years than the present one and in many cases around the world even less deaths this year than previous years. This can easily be checked by looking at mortality rates from official government websites from any country in the world.

Common sense and any semblance of critical thinking and arithmetical ability, it would appear, has been blown into the ether on a cough and sneeze and disappeared in a toxic breeze of propaganda and outright lies.

The Great Chastisement -
A Catholic Perspective of an Impending New World Order

On July 13th, 1917 near the little village of Fatima in Portugal the Blessed Virgin Mary, the Queen of Prophets, announced to the three children whom she had chosen as her messengers, that “mankind would be given a time of grace” if people did what Our Lady asked. She also told them that if we ignored her requests, the main request being to “stop offending her Son by our sins,” thereafter the most terrible sufferings would be unleashed upon mankind, culminating in the “annihilation of several nations.” These were her exact words, “the annihilation of several nations.”

Is there anyone amidst us who could credibly say that in the post-World War II period, Our Lady’s warnings and requests in 1917 were not fulfilled, that we have witnessed a lessening of the offences and sins against God, or that we have seen a growth of sanctity among the Catholic faithful and its ministers.

Quite the contrary. We have seen, sadly, that everything has become worse since that time and, indeed, it is credible to believe that never in the two thousand year history of the Catholic Church things have never been so bad. Hitherto, we have never witnessed more than 120,000 priests and religious abandon their vocations in the mere 20 years following the Second Vatican Council; and the falling away of the priests and religious has continued unabated to this day.

Have children ever been as wildly mistrusted as they are in our day? The Chinese, who make up almost a quarter of mankind, are being forced to abort any pregnancy above the one child per family quota. Thus, do we see the Chinese making child murder an institution of every day life? Christians across the so-called Christian West are murdering unsending millions upon millions of children annually. Simultaneously, and hardly surprisingly given the global nature of child murder, the world has seen an unprecedented explosion of immorality and amorality, a consequence, directly and indirectly, of the near universal breakdown of family life and the seeming freewill of a Catholic Church that wanted to “update itself,” and thus came to mirror the pagan and atheistic world that surrounded it. To informed Catholics, sadly, a minority, none of this comes as a surprise, for we have been warned time and time again down the long centuries that this, and much worse was coming to a family, a country and a parish church near you.

Further Authenticated Prophecies

September 1846, La Salette, France, The Blessed Virgin Mary appears to two children and gives the following message: “God will strike in an unprecedented way. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth! God will exhaust his wrath upon them and no one will be able to escape so many afflictions together. God will allow the old serpent [this is a reference to Satan] to cause divisions among those who reign in every society and in every family. Physical and moral agonies will be suffered. God will abandon mankind to itself and send punishments which will follow one after another. Mankind must expect to be ruled with an iron rod and to drink from the chalice of the wrath of God. Lucifer together with a large number of demons will be unloosed from hell, they will put an end to faith little by little, the true faith of the Lord having been forgotten (Does this sound familiar to the poor confused Catholics of today?) They will abolish civil rights, all order and all justice will be trampled underfoot. All governments will have one and the same plan, which will be to abolish and do away with every religious principal to make way for materialism, atheism, spiritualism and vice of all kind. France, Italy, Spain and England will be at war. Blood will flow in the streets. Frenchman will fight Frenchman, and Italian will fight Italian. A general war will follow [she is referring not to World War II but World War III] which will be appalling. At the first blow of His thundering sword, the mountains and all nature will tremble in terror, for the disorder and crimes of men have pierced the vault of the heavens. Paris will burn, Marseilles will be engulfed. Several cities will be shaken down and swallowed up by earthquakes. People will believe all is lost. Nothing will be seen but murder. Nothing will be heard but the clash of arms and blasphemy. Three quarters of the world’s population will perish.”
Some years ago, while living in London, I passed through the Russell Square area of the city one evening. It was dark and my route took me past one of the university halls of residence that made up a good portion of the buildings for staff and students, particularly local. The lights were on, there were no blinds to obscure the activity of the students inside. It was a large building with many rooms and on each floor there seemed to be about three or four common rooms where students would gather to socialise. Every single one of the common rooms, about twelve in all, had that tell-tale eerie cold blue glow of the night sound.

The TV’s were placed high up in the corner of each room, dominating the space and commanding the attention of everyone. I could see silhouetted in the windows.

What struck me at the time was that almost all TV’s were tuned into the same channel. “Brainwashing.” I said to myself, “That’s what’s going on here.” I already believed at the time that the TV was a force for [sub] cultural indoctrination and social engineering but the sight I saw that evening was a uniquely graphic illustration of just how pervasive and captivating TV can be. Little did I know at the time though how true that sentiment is, both in terms of the physical and mental effect TV has on one’s brain. Not only is TV a threat to intelligent development if placed in the wrong hands, even in so called “safe hands” TV provides no mental, physical or spiritual advantage... in fact quite the opposite is true.

Now, I’m not adverse to information or entertainment in the visual sphere; it’s a very useful medium. But if one wants to transmit information or entertainment it is best delivered by a projection system onto a screen or wall as opposed to directly beamed into the eye from a TV screen. I’ll explain why in a moment. Certainly I think we can agree that thinking people are agreed that physical effects aside, the content of the majority of TV programming today I think could be described as an endless procession of a process that involves a passive receptor of information) is designed to instil a social worldview and value system which is self-centred and in fact the opposite of what a healthy and enduring society requires. Individuality at any cost rules the day and it is more and more evident that empathy for one’s fellow human being and a sense of personal responsibility are rapidly vanishing along with the morality that all healthy civilisations have been known to be necessary for survival.

No Higher Authority

Only recently a car I was travelling in was bumped from behind by a driver who was, I would guess, in his mid to late thirties, looked quite respectable and drove a new and expensive car. Rather than stop and offer his details for the damage done he feigned an apology and when our vehicle pulled off to park safely he took his opportunity to flee the scene, no doubt congratulating himself on avoiding a messy process involving insurance agents. People today are only too used to feel guilty that created our society, is so negative, misinformed and hostile that surely such a conspiracy exists. Now to extrapolate this thought is an attempt to make the case that under TV’s power, even in so called “safe hands” TV provides no mental, physical or spiritual advantage... in fact quite the opposite is true.

No Higher Authority

Only recently a car I was travelling in was bumped from behind by a driver who was, I would guess, in his mid to late thirties, looked quite respectable and drove a new and expensive car. Rather than stop and offer his details for the damage done he feigned an apology and when our vehicle pulled off to park safely he took his opportunity to flee the scene, no doubt congratulating himself on avoiding a messy process involving insurance agents. People today are only too used to feel guilty that created our society, is so negative, misinformed and hostile that surely such a conspiracy exists. Now to extrapolate this thought is an attempt to make the case that under TV’s power, even in so called “safe hands” TV provides no mental, physical or spiritual advantage... in fact quite the opposite is true.

No Higher Authority

Some might say that the proof is in the pudding, that TV is so biased toward the crude, libellous, amoral lifestyle and that Anti-Christian religion, the very force that created our society, is so negative, misinformed and hostile that surely such a conspiracy exists. Now to extrapolate this thought is an attempt to make the case that under TV’s power, even in so called “safe hands” TV provides no mental, physical or spiritual advantage... in fact quite the opposite is true.

Anti-Christian Sentiments

The people are the recipients of all the propaganda. The people are deceived, persuaded, convinced, fashioned and made to believe that the party line is “true.” The people are the victims of all the lies. The people are the creators of all the propaganda. The people are the masters of all the propaganda. The people are the destroyers of all the propaganda. The people are the destroyers of all the propaganda.

The Physical Way TV Affects the Brain

The physical way in which TV affects the brain makes it a perfect vehicle for propaganda. It’s important to note that your eyes grow directly, stem-like, from the brain. They really are the window to the soul and the perfect conduit to access the brain’s inner sanctums. The human brain works at 4 basic frequencies. These are Beta, Alpha, Theta and Delta. Beta waves are produced when one is thinking and using one’s higher faculties. Delta is associated with sleep and/or deep trance like states. The radiant light and flicker rates of TV cause the brain to drop down to a level of activity somewhere between Alpha and Theta - essentially a sleepy dreamlike state of mind where higher critical faculties are turned off. Even if you’re reading text on a television screen the brain registers the low levels of Alpha wave activity. Theta wave activity is associated with a semi-conscious state, where one is on the edge of consciousness. You will find Theta in places where you hold memories, sensations and emotions. Any information therefore imbibed on the TV by-passes our logical, critically thinking brain and goes straight into those sub areas of the mind associated with more emotive response. TV then appeals more to the emotions than to the mind and of course how many of us engage in lively informed debate anymore?

A high occurrence of alpha wave activity does not occur normally when the eyes are open. In fact, Mulholland’s research implies that watching television is neurologically analogous to staring at a blank wall. It’s worthy noting that the goal of hypnotists is to induce slow brain wave states. Alpha waves are present during the ‘light hypnotic’ state used by hypnotherapists for suggestion therapy. The critical side of your brain is the left. As you read this you are making judgements, passing opinions and coming to conclusions which take the form of beta brain wave activity. These are the waves activated when you begin to use that left hand side, the centre of logical human communication and analysis.

Researchers have found that once the television set is switched on, that left hand side and all its faculties tend to switch off. Instead the image from television goes straight to the subconscious. The switch from beta to alpha waves shows this. Alpha brain waves are the ones we associate with meditation and sleep. But if means this does mean that we are not taking the information in - we are taking it in, we are just not able to critically evaluate it as we would with information coming from other sources.

Video Games too

Video Games too

Video Games have been shown to lower brain activity to below that of the Delta frequency! The TV screen flicker rate alone is known to induce mesmerized states in people. This flicker rate is the rate at which the screen image is updated, generally about 50 or 60 times a second. DARPA is a US military funded research program that began investigating TV flicker rates and the effects TV has on brain activity. It was found that TV flicker rates could be played whenever a mesmerized state was required in a given section of the population. Endorphins are released by exposure to light. The radiant light from televisions causes a release of endorphins. Researcher Herbert Kruenig's research showed that while viewers are watching television, the right hemisphere (also called opioid peptides) are usually habit-forming (we rarely call them addictive). These include crashing knuckles and strenuous exercise. External opiates act on the same receptor sites (opioid receptors) as endorphins, which include beta-endorphins and enkephalins. Endorphins are structurally identical to opioid and their derivatives (morphine, codeine, heroin, etc.). Activities that release endorphins (such as strenuous exercise) are addictive whereas TV viewing engender inner and intuitive subconscious. The way TV affects the Brain

Empirical Evidence

Even casual television viewers experience such opiate withdrawal symptoms if they stop watching TV for a prolonged period of time. An article from South Africa’s Eastern Province Herald (October 1975) described two experiments in which people from various socio-economic milieus were asked to stop watching television. In one experiment, several families volunteered to stop watching TV for just one month. The poorest family gave in after one week, and the others suffered from depression, saying they felt as though they had “lost a friend.”

In the other experiment, 1, 82 West Germans agreed to kick their television viewing habit for a year, with the added bonus of payment. None could resist the urge longer than six months, and over time all of the participants showed the symptoms of opiate-withdrawal: increased anxiety, frustration, and depression. Herbert Kruenig’s experiment seemed to confirm that the left hand side of the brain, particularly the frontal lobes, was the area responsible for any effect TV has on the brain and it is the left half of our brain that is critical for organizing, analyzing, and otherwise thinking. The left hand side, the centre of logical human communication and analysis.
"Propaganda must be total. The propagandist must utilise all of the technical means at his disposal - the press, radio, TV, movies, posters, meetings, door-to-door canvassing. Modern propaganda must utilise ALL of these media."

Jacques Ellul - 'Propaganda - The Formation of Men's Attitudes' - 1965

"The conscious and intelligent manipulation of the organised habits and opinions of the masses is an important element in democratic society. Those who manipulate this unseen mechanism of society constitute an invisible government which is the true ruling power of our country."

We live in a world today where people's personalities are formed by unreal things; TV, the music industry, video games, movies, the effects of drugs (be that of the recreational or psychotropic variety). Virtual reality dominates the interests of a lot of people out there, even young adults and people of my own age group in their 30's. All conversation is about this or that TV show, the latest new video game on the latest new console or who's top of the Premiership. It's a sad state of affairs.

All Part of the New World Order

All these negative effects on society are known, they are in fact engineered and planned for. A New World Order is coming into view. Not so long ago in India, the then British Chancellor Gordon Brown, in a speech mentioned this "New Global Order" that is being brought into existence. This New Order will be the stuff of nightmare as envisaged by Orwell. In fact, I don't think even Orwell had the vision to picture the dystopian technocratic dictatorship in store for humanity. Huxley was somewhat closer to the mark in his novel, "Brave New World". The TV is our soma, it keeps us mesmerized and dulled while our freedoms are revoked and laws introduced to make criminals of us all so the New World Order can get on with the business of creating a prison planet with a prison based economic system, much like modern China.

Get rid of your TV's today. Exchange them for projection systems if you're not quite ready to give up the videodrome. We need to reclaim our personalities from the agencies and organisations that use TV to claim our minds, create our consumerist loyalties and keep us from truth, reality and a full-spectrum human life. We all need to reclaim for ourselves, and instil in future generations, a sense of wonder at the real world and its panoply.

The Scientific Dictorship Of The Police State

This is an update of an original article written and published in 2009.

Much of what was stated then is coming to the fore right now under the guise of the current so called Covid-19 pandemic.

ID 2020 is at the forefront of much of this technology with Bill Gates, a proven liar and thief of intellectual property as the US government confirmed and for which Gates had to pay a large settlement, is rolling out ID2020 which Microsoft has developed, or stolen perhaps? This is Gates' solution to almost everything imaginable to control every aspect of our lives, including the right to buy and sell anything, the right to be in a public place, use public transport, airlines, cruise ships, bars and restaurants, and yes, even the right to be out in public at all to meet with your fellow human beings. Gates' is infamous for his bizarre predictions for which he has a sinister fascination for, of global pandemics and of which he is deemed an 'expert' on. How did this liar and thief suddenly get propelled to the status of some kind of Nostradamus of pandemics to come and King of the World, who can somehow get on every soapbox of mainstream media, the WHO, the UN etc?.

It's important to understand exactly who Bill Gates is. He is not a computer genius who built up a global empire from his basement. As mentioned above, he was charged and found guilty of multiple counts of theft, stealing the intellectual property rights of computer developers which he used illegally to further his empire from his basement. As mentioned above, he was charged and found guilty of multiple counts of theft, stealing the intellectual property rights of computer developers which he used illegally to further his monopolistic rule of the world's software.

It's also important to understand his ties to the now defunct Bill Gates Foundation. The Gates Foundation is a private, non-profit organisation that focuses on health and education issues. It was founded in 1993 by Bill and Melinda Gates with an initial contribution of $28 billion. The foundation is known for its contributions to global health, especially in the fight against malaria, tuberculosis, and HIV/AIDS.

The Gates Foundation has been a controversial organisation, with many people critical of its funding practices, its influence on global health policies, and its role in promoting certain technologies and medical interventions. Some critics have also accused the foundation of using its philanthropic activities to advance corporate interests or to promote particular political agendas.

One example of this is the development and marketing of the so-called 'smart card', which is a compact device that contains a computer chip and can be used for a variety of purposes, such as payment, identification, and access control. The Gates Foundation has been a major supporter of the development and deployment of smart cards in various countries, often in conjunction with large-scale public health initiatives.

By Helena Handbasket, April 2020

We are grateful to the Washington Post, the New York Times, Time Magazine and other great publications whose directors have attended our meetings and respected their promises of discretion for almost 40 years...It would have been impossible for us to develop our plan for the world if we had been subjected to the lights of publicity during those years. But, the world is more sophisticated and prepared to march towards a world government. The supernational sovereignty of an intellectual elite and world bankers is surely preferable to the national autodetermination practiced in past centuries."

David Rockefeller, Bilderberg Group 1991 - (Attended by future President of the United States, Bill Clinton)
On April 26th, 2009 the Irish Independent published an article titled ‘Concern for Children’s Health as Parents ignore vaccines’. Edel Kennedy, you should be ashamed of yourself! This is nothing less than an attempt by government, through their puppets in the media, to remove the rights of parents to determine the life choices of their offspring and removes any doubt that we now live in a dictatorship.

This is an OUTRAGEOUS insult to every parent in the country who has the common sense to research the efficacy of vaccines themselves by simply looking at the historical record rather than trust politicians whose lies in the media, including those perpetrated by the Dept. of Health under Mary Harney regarding the farce of ‘swine flu’ and the dangerous myth of HPV vaccination, have led the country into the abyss of utter poverty and sold the country into the communist grasp of European bureaucrats whose sole aim is the destruction of every member nation’s sovereignty leaving them clutching at the bailout begging bowl of the IMF.

Vaccines are a fraud; pure and simple!

The historical record PROVES this for anyone with a little patience and the courage to investigate the FACTS for themselves, and it does take courage, especially for those in the medical profession whose careers will be at risk if they dare expose this danger to our children. It also shatters their illusions that they’re part of an organization which is far from beneficial to those they believe they are protecting from illness. However, their hypocritical oath should compel them to investigate such wild claims put out by pharmaceutical giants and their drug dealer allies representatives instead of taking the word of an industry well known as being utterly corrupt and ruthless in its business practices.

The Irish haemophiliac scandal, where patients were knowingly infected with HIV through contaminated blood products should be enough to convince anyone of Big Pharma’s murderous intent. This brings us to the real reasons for vaccinations. I’m not even going to prove to readers that they don’t work. I’ll simply urge you to look up the historical record. One simple example is the demise of measles.

The measles death rate had declined by 98% from 1915-1958 prior to any vaccination being introduced.

In 1988 and 1989, 49% and 39% for measles cases in American school-aged children had been vaccinated.

In 1995, 56% of ALL measles cases in America were vaccinated.

These figures come from medical journals. Those 3 simple examples PROVE that unvaccinated children are less likely to contract measles and that the vaccine was useless. Look that up for yourself. All other vaccine claims that they’ve cured or eliminated disease follows a similar pattern. Better hygiene, clean water and good, healthy food was the cause of the decline and any doctor worth his smelling salts should know that. If they don’t then they are misinformed on a grand scale or they’re in complete denial. Therein lies the problem. Why have doctors been ‘indoctrinated’ to believe that vaccines are the sacred cow of medicine when the historical record clearly shows that they are virtually useless?

“"For more than a century ideological extremists at either end of the political spectrum have seized upon well-publicized incidents, such as my encounter with Castro, to attack the Rockefeller family for the inordinate influence they claim we wield over American political and economic institutions. Some even believe we are part of a secret cabal working against the best interests of the United States, characterizing my family and me as ‘internationalists’ and of conspiring with others around the world to build a more integrated global political and economic structure- one world, if you will. If that's the charge, I stand guilty, and I am proud of it.”

David Rockefeller, ‘Memoirs’, 2002

Hold onto your sanity because I have some bad news for you.

The real reason for vaccinations, apart from the massive profits to the manufacturers, is to ensure that you get sick throughout your life, again not only to enrich these same corporations that made you sick, but to ensure that many, if not all of you, die before you ever receive your pension and when you are no longer of any use to society. That’s why they want you retiring later in life and are forcing you through economic terrorism to work longer regardless of your age or health. They literally want to work you to death. If you don’t work you will be classed as a burden to society, a financial cost which society has to bear and therefore you will be stigmatised as a “useless eaten”, a consumer of resources needed for the rest of society.

When Big Pharma can no longer profit from the illness they gave you, you will be left to die.

This is the depopulation agenda promoted under the United Nations Division of Population under the Department of Economic and Social Affairs. They only need look at Africa, the nation which the United Nations has said themselves, could feed the world. Why then are millions in Africa starving to death on that continent? It’s meant to be that way folks.

All of us at one time or another have been led to believe in the efficacy of vaccine. I was one of them and had my child vaccinated nearly 35 years ago. I wouldn’t even dream of it now. I think it’s safe to say that we’re all aware of the real pandemic, as opposed to the fake pandemics of the past. It’s called ‘CANCER’. Autism is also at crisis (pandemic) levels all across the world where mass vaccination programs exist.

Prior to mass vaccination, cancers were extremely rare, as in almost nonexistent. Today in the western, so-called developed world, we face a crisis of cancer to the extent that, between one in five to one in two will suffer, many dying, from one form of cancer or another. What’s happened to cause this pandemic?

We only have to look back at the Jonas Salk polio vaccine that went around the world in the full knowledge that it contained the SV40 virus which had no other purpose than causing cancer; yet it was pushed as a vaccine for polio when, as with measles, polio was well in decline prior to any vaccine due to the same factors.

Enter stage right at the TED 2010 conference, Mr. Bill Gates, head of Microsoft, the biggest computer firm on the planet. What has Bill Gates to do with vaccines you’re wondering?

Those are his EXACT words. Are you beginning to get the picture?

The globalist elite care nothing for humanity; ordinary men, women and children must be eliminated in their delusional minds to ensure that their superior types go into the future with the best of breeding being done. The John Rockefellers of the world would be proud.

In 2020, look where we are now with Gates still calling the shots!

"The world has 6.8 billion people... that's headed up to about 9 billion Now if we do a really great job on new vaccines, health care, reproductive health services, we could lower that by perhaps 10 to 35 percent."

Bill Gates
Microsoft, Globalist, Member of Bilderberg Group

If you would like to support this publication you can make donations by contacting us at editor@theirishsentinel.com
Jesus of Nazareth to Peter

"And I say to thee: That thou art Peter; and upon this rock I will build my church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it.

Jesus of Nazareth to Peter
There are hundreds of prophecies from Saints and religious down the Christian centuries, pointing to these events from Europe and beyond. Let us look at five such events, each in turn heightening the almost inevitable explosion of the Third World War and the intrinsic Chastisement that this signifies:

1. The whole world will be involved in this Third World War. A unique feature is the internal disintegration of the Western democracies, the eruption of civil wars in Europe, and an invasion by the New World Order. European enemies. St. Columba (6th century): “Listen, listen to what will happen in the later days of the world. There will be great wars; unjust laws will be enacted. The common people will believe in false ide-

2. The church is persecuted; the Pope flees Rome and dies in exile. The church is split, leaderless and disorganised. The New World Order is victorious. St. Pius X (20th century): “I saw one of my successors taking to flight over the bodies of his brethren. He will take refuge in disguise somewhere; and will die a cruel death. The present wickedness is only the beginning of the sorrows which must take place before the end of the world.” St. Anna-Katrinia Emmerick (19th century): “I saw a secret sect relentlessly undermining the great church.” St. John of the Cleft Rock (4th century): “At that time, the Pope with his cardinals will have to flee Rome; the Pope will die in exile. The suffering of the church will be much greater than at any previous time in her histo-

3. Natural disturbances begin: floods, droughts, famines. Whole mountains split open, huge tidal waves swallow up coastal cities, a deadly fog or gas poisons the atmosphere, a prolonged darkness envelops the earth, three quarters of mankind is wiped out. St. Hildegard (12th century): “A powerful wind will in the north, carrying heavy fog and the densest of dust by Divine Command, and it will fill their throats and eyes so that they will cease their savagery and be struck with a great fear. Before the comet comes, many nations, the good excepted, will be scourged by want and famine. The great nation in the ocean that is inhabited by people of different tribes and desert will be devastated by an earthquake, storm and tidal wave. It will be divided and in great part submerged. That na-

4. The French Monarch, leading his growing army to battle, wins victory after victory. Russia and China are converted to Catholicism, as also are the Muslims, all Christian denominations return to the One True Faith; all nations unite and form a new Roman Empire. Brother Louis Rocoe (19th century): “A great king will arise after a period of terrible wars and persecutions.” Melanie Calvat, Seeress of La Salette (19th century): “After the whom the world is inhabited by people of different tribes and desert will be devastated by an earthquake, storm and tidal wave. It will be divided and in great part submerged. That na-

5. The whole world enjoys a period of complete peace and unprecedented prosperity with mutual love and respect preeminent amongst people and nations. Sister Marianne Gauthier (1 9th century): “The triumph of religion shall be so great that no one has ever seen the equal; civil laws shall be enacted in harmony with the law of God and with the Church. The edu-

6. This final prophecy is the most disturbing of all. I write it for all faithful Catholics. Which seems to talk about the new rite of mass brought in after the Second Vatican Council and if it does, would answer all the questions of how things have gone so bad in the world and the Church. You see the only theological answer to a world gone mad is God withdraws grace. As a catholic you know the primary source of grace is the Eucharist (Body, Blood, Soul and Divinity of Christ). But if this primary source of grace is taken from us, it results in the falling away of the people and priests from the faith. Also the light of the Church doesn’t go out and the darkness creeps in as the light dies. So eventually the whole world will be plunged in a blood bath far worse than death. St. Anna-Katrinia Emmerick (19th century): “I saw again the new and odd-looking church; which they were trying to build. There was nothing holy about it. People were knaung bread in the crypt below. But it would not rise, nor did they receive the body of Our Lord, but only bread. Those who were in error, through no fault of her own, and who piously and ardently loved the Body of Jesus were spiritually consolated, but not by their consecration. Then, my guide [Jesus] said: ‘THIS IS BABEL’ [The Mass in many languages].”

These prophecies, drawn from the past and across the Catholic nations of the world, are but a few of the many hundreds that exist, and which indicate what is happening today and what is going to happen in the near future. We can choose to ignore them, or choose to scorn them, or choose to maintain the Faith of our Fathers. No victory against the demonic New World Order, we must obey one cardinal rule: first Prayer, then Action! Pray the Rosary that our Blessed Mother, the Virgin Mary, requested at Fatima, and implore Jesus Christ that we may merit that He saves Ireland!; Brother Patrick of the way of the Cross T.O.C.D.

All the above prophecies are approved by the Church, Prophecy Sources: Catholic Prophecy, Yves Dupont; Prophecy for Today, Edward Conmor. First published 2009.
The telecommunications industry and their experts have accused many scientists who have researched the effects of cell phone radiation of "fear mongering" over the advent of wireless technology's 5G. Since much of our research is publicly-funded, we believe it is our ethical responsibility to inform the public about what the peer-reviewed scientific literature tells us about the health risks from wireless radiation.

The chairman of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) recently announced through a press release that the commission will soon reaffirm the radio frequency radiation (RFR) exposure limits that the FCC adopted in the late 1990s. These limits are based upon a behavioral change in rats exposed to millimeter waves and were designed to protect us from short-term heating risks due to RFR exposure.

Yet, since the FCC adopted these limits based largely on research from the 1980s, the preponderance of peer-reviewed research, more than 500 studies, have found harmful biological or health effects from exposure to RFR at intensities too low to cause significant heating.

Citing this large body of research, more than 240 scientists who have published peer-reviewed research on the biologic and health effects of nonionizing electromagnetic fields (EMF) signed the International EMF Scientist Appeal, which calls for stronger exposure limits. The appeal makes the following assertions:

Numerous recent scientific publications have shown that EMF affects living organisms at levels well below most international and national guidelines. Effects include increased cancer risk, cellular stress, increase in harmful free radicals, genetic damages, structural and functional changes of the reproductive system, learning and memory deficits, neurological disorders, and negative impacts on general well-being in humans. Damage goes well beyond the human race, as there is growing evidence of harmful effects to both plant and animal life.

The scientists who signed this appeal arguably constitute the majority of experts on the effects of nonionizing radiation. They have published more than 2,000 papers and letters on EMF in professional journals.

The FCC’s RFR exposure limits regulate the intensity of exposure, taking into account the frequency of the carrier waves, but ignore the signalling properties of the RFR. Along with the patterning and duration of exposures, certain characteristics of the signal (e.g., pulsing, polarization) increase the biologic and health impacts of the exposure. New exposure limits are needed which account for these differential effects. Moreover, these limits should be based on a biological effect, not a change in a laboratory rat’s behavior.

The World Health Organization's International Agency for Research on Cancer (IARC) classified RFR as "possibly carcinogenic to humans" in 2011. Last year, a $30 million study conducted by the U.S. National Toxicology Program (NTP) found “clear evidence” that two years of exposure to cell phone RFR increased cancer in male rats and damaged DNA in rats and mice of both sexes. The Ramazzini Institute in Italy replicated the key finding of the NTP using a different carrier frequency and much weaker exposure to cell phone radiation over the life of the rats.

Based upon the research published since 2011, including human and animal studies and mechanistic data, the IARC has recently prioritized RFR to be reviewed again in the next five years. Since many EMF scientists believe we now have sufficient evidence to consider RFR as either a probable or known human carcinogen, the IARC will likely upgrade the carcinogenic potential of RFR in the near future.

Nonetheless, without conducting a formal risk assessment or a systematic review of the research on RFR health effects, the FDA recently reaffirmed the FCC’s 1996 exposure limits in a letter to the FCC, stating that the agency had “concluded that no changes to the current standards are warranted at this time,” and that “NTP’s experimental findings should not be applied to human cell phone usage.” The letter stated that “the available scientific evidence to date does not support adverse health effects in humans due to exposures at or under the current limits.”

The latest cellular technology, 5G, will employ millimeter waves for the first time in addition to micro-waves that have been in use for older cellular technologies, 2G through 4G. Given limited reach, 5G will require cell antennas every 100 to 200 meters, exposing many people to millimeter wave radiation. 5G also employs new technologies (e.g., active antennas capable of beam-forming; phased arrays; massive multiple inputs and outputs, known as massive MIMO) which pose unique challenges for measuring exposures.

Millimeter waves are mostly absorbed within a few millimeters of human skin and in the surface layers of the skin. Short-term exposure can have adverse physiological effects in the peripheral nervous system, the immune system and the cardiovascular system. The research suggests that long-term exposure may pose health risks to the skin (e.g., melanoma), the eyes (e.g., ocular melanoma) and the testes (e.g., sterility).

Since 5G is a new technology, there is no research on health effects, so we are “flying blind” to quote a U.S. senator. However, we have considerable evidence about the harmful effects of 2G and 3G. Little is known the effects of exposure to 4G, a 10-year-old technology, because governments have been remiss in funding this research. Meanwhile, we are seeing increases in certain types of head and neck tumors in tumor registries, which may be at least partially attributable to the proliferation of cell phone radiation. These increases are consistent with results from case-control studies of tumor risk in heavy cell phone users.

5G will not replace 4G; it will accompany 4G for the near future and possibly over the long term. If there are synergistic effects from simultaneous exposures to multiple types of RFR, our overall risk of harm from RFR may increase substantially. Cancer is not the only risk as there is considerable evidence that RFR causes neurological disorders and reproductive harm, likely due to oxidative stress.

As a society, should we invest hundreds of billions of dollars deploying 5G, a cellular technology that requires the installation of 800,000 or more new cell antenna sites in the U.S. close to where we live, work and play? Instead, we should support the recommendations of the 250 scientists and medical doctors who signed the 5G Appeal that calls for an immediate moratorium on the deployment of 5G and demand that our government fund the research needed to adopt biologically based exposure limits that protect our health and safety.

Based upon the research published since 2011, including human and animal studies and mechanistic data, the IARC has recently prioritized RFR to be reviewed again in the next five years. Since many EMF scientists believe we now have sufficient evidence to consider RFR as either a probable or known human carcinogen, the IARC will likely upgrade the carcinogenic potential of RFR in the near future.

Nonetheless, without conducting a formal risk assessment or a systematic review of the research on RFR health effects, the FDA recently reaffirmed the FCC’s 1996 exposure limits in a letter to the FCC, stating that the agency had “concluded that no changes to the current standards are warranted at this time,” and that “NTP’s experimental findings should not be applied to human cell phone usage.” The letter stated that “the available scientific evidence to date does not support adverse health effects in humans due to exposures at or under the current limits.”

The latest cellular technology, 5G, will employ millimeter waves for the first time in addition to micro-waves that have been in use for older cellular technologies, 2G through 4G. Given limited reach, 5G will require cell antennas every 100 to 200 meters, exposing many people to millimeter wave radiation. 5G also employs new technologies (e.g., active antennas capable of beam-forming; phased arrays; massive multiple inputs and outputs, known as massive MIMO) which pose unique challenges for measuring exposures.

Millimeter waves are mostly absorbed within a few millimeters of human skin and in the surface layers of the skin. Short-term exposure can have adverse physiological effects in the peripheral nervous system, the immune system and the cardiovascular system. The research suggests that long-term exposure may pose health risks to the skin (e.g., melanoma), the eyes (e.g., ocular melanoma) and the testes (e.g., sterility).

Since 5G is a new technology, there is no research on health effects, so we are “flying blind” to quote a U.S. senator. However, we have considerable evidence about the harmful effects of 2G and 3G. Little is known the effects of exposure to 4G, a 10-year-old technology, because governments have been remiss in funding this research. Meanwhile, we are seeing increases in certain types of head and neck tumors in tumor registries, which may be at least partially attributable to the proliferation of cell phone radiation. These increases are consistent with results from case-control studies of tumor risk in heavy cell phone users.

5G will not replace 4G; it will accompany 4G for the near future and possibly over the long term. If there are synergistic effects from simultaneous exposures to multiple types of RFR, our overall risk of harm from RFR may increase substantially. Cancer is not the only risk as there is considerable evidence that RFR causes neurological disorders and reproductive harm, likely due to oxidative stress.